The DIMMER VIEW

by Max Goodwin

Fun Amid the Motorbike Set

There is an area in Spring Valley that is giving residents, and the police, fits.

The trouble has to do with leather-jacketed motorcylists identified by police and neighbors as Iron Horsemen — a Hell's Angels type of group.

So that the public may know more about the futility of the hassle that has grown between the police and residents, and the Horsemen, excerpts from the public records are produced here.

The futility apparently results from the growing permissiveness of society — a society that overlooks things that would have brought down the lightning and thunder of the law and courts a few years back. Today, local courts, interpreting the higher courts, give miscreants a slap on the wrist for lawless acts that would have jailed them before. Lawbreakers then give the public, and the police, a loud haw-haw because they know they will not be punished.

Item: On Jan. 21, 1966, Richard A. Meyers purchased the premises at 9358 Vista dr., Spring Valley. These premises have become the focal point of a series of complaints. The first action came in July, about six months after Meyers took possession of the property although several complaints were registered with the county police.

On July 6, on a neighbor's complaint, police arrested Tom Lyle Waller, age 27, at the 9358 Vista dr. address, on a charge of using profane language. He was eventually fined $50, sent to jail for one day, and put on a three years' probation.

The premises have become the pain and the agony of nearby neighbors. Neighbors, in a flood of wide-ranging complaints, charge that the place is a centering spot for a motorcycle group called The Iron Horsemen. They also charge that loud, boisterous, and profane language emanates from the area, often in the wee hours of the morning. Revving engines and squealing tires, they say, keep them in a state of nervous unrest.

From the public files, records show that police spend more time than the law ought to allow just trying to pin down the guilty. So far they have not been able to prove beyond a shadow of doubt that the suspect actually did what was charged. There is no question but that the act was committed, but being able to swear that a certain person was the one who did it is another problem.

Records show that the District Attorney's office served a NOTICE TO ABATE PUBLIC NUISANCE on Meyers in an action dated Jan. 19, 1967.

Five days later his attorney responded to the DA charging that the police were harrassing the Iron Horsemen and demanding that the DA furnish a Bill of Particulars on which the Notice was based; citing the California Penal Code and decisions under it that free passage or use of public street was obstructed as a condition of guilt under the Code. He demanded that passage or use of the street was involved. He also demanded that the police cease and desist the "illegal and unlawful harrassment of the . . . Iron Horseman."

A lengthy complaint, dated May 24, 1967, over the signatures of 12 residents near Meyers' residence, cited 16 alleged acts of lawlessness — some between the hours of 2 and 4:30 a.m. where yelling, obnoxious language, loud motor noises, swilling, and prowling were charged. The sheriff was hung in effigy; obscene and malicious signs were painted on complainants' cars, and one neighbor was viciously attacked and beaten into semi-consciousness.

Other complaints included that a home-made bomb was tossed onto the premises, and a sign, in 30-inch block letters "All Outlaw Bike Riders Welcome" — complete with swatikas, was painted on a complainant's wall.

A police report dated April 5 showed officers responded to a complaint on Vista dr. that 40-50 motorcylists were cursing, revving engines, tossing firecrackers—amid cesspool type odors emanating from the premises resulted in no arrests. Specific identification was impossible, officers say.

It was noted that the Abatement Order was still in effect — as it is today, but someone must make a specific charge and be able to positively identify the suspect before it can be activated. It was in effect when the complainant was severely beaten but the suddeness of the attack made it impossible for him to identify the suspect.

An unsolved crime came when a suspect stopped his car long enough to threaten: "Next time I catch you I'll run you over and kill your dog." This threat allegedly came at 11:30 a.m. Jan. 11.

Nor did arrests follow a complaint on Jan. 15 at 2:15 a.m. when the suspects denied loud noises were coming from them. The complainant couldn't prove that specific ones had made the noise.

A police report covering much of the activity, and more, listed six specific investigations police had taken to try to resolve the unrest on Vista dr. The report was signed by D. L. Bender of the Sheriff's Homicide Detail. Again, they couldn't identify specific persons.

On July 10, a resident reported that his house had been prowled and $225 in cash had been taken.

On Aug. 10, a resident reported gunshots in the early evening came from the area of the Iron Horsemen residence. Resident reported that a member was later seen brandishing a gun. Suspects claimed that a car backfired. Later, that evening, officers were again called to victim's residence after a suspect drove a motorcycle into victim's driveway and stared menacingly at him for two minutes.

Victim is genuinely afraid of reprisals, the report concluded.

On Aug. 26, at 3 a.m. a resident complained to police that loud, profane language and gunfire in front of her home awakened her.

And the investigation goes on.

If a complainant can make a charge stick, a Contempt of Court charge can be filed by police.

With new, stringent Supreme Court rulings in effect, no officer wants to be guilty of depriving a suspect of his rights.

The ruling doesn't do so much for the victims.

Assassination Cabinet Needed

What this country needs is a new cabinet.

We need an assassination cabinet.

If Dr. Martin Luther King's assassination proves useful in obtaining benefits, other groups may decide destruction of a human life is a fair price to pay for the advantage it brings to those who perpertrates it.

As macabre as it appears, the cabinet would have the additional function of coordinating all the activities stemming from the killing of a top public figure.

County Reorganzation Eyed

Change Gives Supervisors 'Fire Power'

SAN DIEGO (CNA) — Sweeping changes in the organization of county government have been recommended by the Charter Review Committee which was formed by the Board of Supervisors.

Only the positions of the sheriff and district attorney would remain elective, except for the board members themselves.

The committee calls for the consolidation of the tax collector's office with that of the treasurer and of the county recorder with the county clerk. These are four of the positions that would become appointive and the other is that of the assessor.

The other change is that the board of supervisors would be given the right to fire all department heads, without going through Civil Service procedures, on a four-fifths vote of the board.

All of the suggestions will be presented to the board on April 23. The board has already determined that there will be no attempt to get any county charter changes, as all of the recommendations would have to be, on the June 4 primary ballot.

The committee was unanimous on all votes except for the determination on the positions of assessor, district attorney and sheriff.

The charter change would carry a provision that the present incumbents in the positions to be made appointive would be appointed by the board.

Recorder A. L. Gray, Clerk R. P. James, Assessor E. C. Williams, Treasurer Delavan Dickson and Tax Collector James Jones all testified before the committee that they think their offices should remain elective.

Former Chief Administrative Officer T. M. Heggland, on the other hand, suggested that all seven position be made appointive. He also supported taking department heads out from under the protection of Civil Service.

Brookside Ditch 'Committee-ed'

SAN DIEGO (CNA) — Neither the Brookside Committee nor the Board of Supervisors heard what they wanted to hear on Tuesday as they faced each other for many minutes.

The committee wants to hear the board say the county will improve the big drainage ditch down the middle of Fairway Drive at county cost.

The board wanted to hear the committee say the people who object to the ditch are willing to pay a share of its improvement.

At the end of the meeting, the board directed the county engineer and the flood control staff to investigate and report on two small individual problems. One is a drainage line from Sweetwater Road onto private property and the other is the size of the culvert under Par Drive where it crosses Fairway.

County files bulge with correspondence dating back to 1950 and hundreds of manhours have been given to the problem of what to do with the unsightly ditch that forms the center divider to Fairway.

The solution seems no closer than before Tuesday"s meeting.

There is a chance, according to chief county flood control officer, Warren A. Barney, that the project can be included in an Army Corps of Engineer project for the entire Spring Valley area. The corps said, Barney reports, that the project cannot stand alone as a project.

He told County News Assn. that the problem is essentially one of drainage, not flood control. He said the danger of loss of life or property does not appear to be great in Brookside.

Committee President Gene Sprofera, flanked by Mrs. Diane Klostermeier and James Hall, asked the board many legal and technical questions and these questions will be answered by the county staff. The purpose for the questions was less than clear.

The real question is who is going to pay for the improvement of the ditch.

In a recent communication to the board the committee "demanded" that the county cover the ditch, a job estimated at about $500,000.

It is doubtful, however, if the board will go so far as to spend any general fund or flood control district money on even the small improvements suggested by Supervisor Robert Dent, who represents the area.

Supervisor Robert Cozens, who represents Santee, said, "We might put a bridge over Via Zapador while we're at it."

Supervisor De Graff Austin said the people of his district in San Diego and National City would have little interest in spending even a small portion of their tax money on the local Brookside drainage problem.

It is a whole lot easier for the board to authorize a study, than it is for them to spend everyone's money to benefit a few people.

Media used for the exhibit included watercolors, stencils, potato prints, crayon resist and colleges. Three dimensional pieces were also on display. A "butterfly tree" attracted attention, Toth said.

She also gave the charge to the new officers. Installed, were Mrs. Margery Maxwell, president; Mrs. Madge Kozlarek, secretary; and Mrs. Phylis Grellson; also a number of committee chairmen.

Following the installation the ladies enjoyed a time of fellowship and refreshments, from a "Spring" table, and the revealing of "Secret Sistors." Mrs. Wanda Grant and Mrs. Barbara Ellis, were hostesses.

A Bible study group for adults meets every other Friday in various homes, the next meeting being this Friday, at the Max Anderson home.

The midweek service on Wednesday evenings at 7 o'clock is a "family gathering" in the Sanctuary of the church from 7 to 7:30 p.m. It includes Bible study, testimonies, singing, special music.

Then special separate prayer groups are held for various ages, including children. On April 10 several young people gave messages on the "'Seven Last Words of Christ," and a solo by Mary Moline. Other prayer meeting continue at the church, during the week.

It is easy to thank someone — husband wife, mother, father — for something they have done for us. It is harder to thank them for being themselves. With God, too, it is easier to thank Him for blessings and answered selves. With God, too, it is easier to thank Him for blessings and answered God for being God is worship. The best place to do it is in your church, this Sunday.

Spring Valley Girl Tells Of Australian School Day

A Spring Valley girl who, in December, was walking the halls of Monte Vista high school is today attending an Australian school and doing chores on a farm in her spare time.

The student, Sue Papike, 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Papike, 10624 Eureka rd., Spring Valley, is spending a year 'down under" through the auspices of the American Field Service. Sue is currently attending Colac High School, 100 miles fom Melbourne, and is a member of the school's swim team, which will go to the all-state championships in Melbourne this month.

At Colac girls and boys sit on opposite sides of the classroom and they eat their lunches in different areas, Sue pointed out.

She said, "most students leave school at 14 or 15. Those who do pass the test to enter high school must also pass a test to graduate. The straight "A" student will not graduate i he fails the final."

She is staying on a farm 17 miles from her school, living in a 57-year-old farm house. In her spare time she helps the family with whom she lives take care of the ducks and sheep on th farm.

Australia is now in the midst of a serious drought, she said. "If it continues," she said, "it's going to be a bad winter for us and everyone else around here."

Instead of permitting sympathizers, most of whom are emotionally involved, to fan out in all directions to show their sorrow — and as a result the demonstration is overdone — the new cabinet would set ground rules so that a man who dies of violence could at least be interred in dignity.

The San Diego County League of Women Voters will join together May 15 for their first convention at the 7 Inns Motel, 250 N. Hotel cir., Mission Valley.

The league, made up of five local chapters will conduct their all day meeting covering coordination of the league reorganization.

Leagues from Grossmont-Cajon Valley, Chula Vista, Escondido, San Diego and San Dieguito will be under the direction of Mrs. Major Rix of the Escondido League. She is County Council Chairman.

Up to this time the local Leagues have cooperated informally through the County Council of San Diego County, with representatives of each League meeting regularly to cooperate in coordinating county matters.

For the past year a study committee, composed of members of each of the five Leagues, have met and the result of their findings has been the new County League. Mrs. C. D. Pengelley of the San Diego League is chairman of the County Reorganization Committee.

The study committee recommended to the local Leagues the change from the council to the League structure. The Leagues authorized the committee to plan an organizational convention with by-laws, budget and a program.

The County League will be an autonomous body working at the county level of government. Voters service activities will be a major responsibility of this body. The County League will be producing materials on all countywide elections including the Board of Supervisors, Tax assessor, coroner, ditrict attorney, etc.; and also pros and cons on bond issues, propositions, and county charter changes.

They will encompass unincorporated areas of the county as well as existing League jurisdictions. The League will act at the direction of the membership instead of the boards of the five local Leagues.

Geriatric's To Install New Officers

Everybody loves a circus, so all the kids from 8 to 80 can now get ready to have the time of their life. The Big John Strong circus is coming to Lemon Grove under the sponsorship of the Chamber of Commerce for their 5th annual Circus Day. The billowing big top will go up on the Mayfair Market parking lot. Performances are scheduled at 4 and 8:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Big Strong Circus, now in it's nineteenth year, has headlined State and County Fairs in the western states of California, Oregon, Washington, Arizona and Nevada and well deserves the reputation they have earned — "The show with more friends than Santa Claus". Strong maintains the policy of a good clean circus at moderate prices — with NO reserved seats.

In the spotlight is NEENA, the baby elephant. This 7 year old, in her sixth season as a circus veteran, has won the hearts of all that have seen her perform.

Also on the bill this year — Pete, the trained llama from Peru; Goldie, the African pygmy goat; perfroming dogs and ponies; and of course, Clown Alley is headed by TV's versatile Eddie Spaghetti.

10 big name, all new, circus acts including Kenny Benge from the Ed Sullivan Show, a local star juggler from La Mesa.

'You Can Fight City Hall' -- Stull

Assemblyman John Stuff has introduced a bill which he describes as "You CAN Fight City Hall" legislation. The bill provides protection for the individual against unwarranted legal action by a government body. The proposed legislation would provide for redress for the citizen forced into litigation by a public body.

"As things stand," Assemblyman Stull said, "if you fight City Hall, you pay, right or wrong.

My bill, AB 1318, provides that if the citizen wins, he shall be awarded court costs, attorney fees, and any reasonable damages incurred in the legal action.

At the pesent time, legal costs are so high, that many citizens swallow whatever is handed them rather than fight.

This obviously isn't right as he finds himself in the position of having his own tax money used in the action against him but is unable to finance a legal answer."

"Obviously, another great advantage of this bill," Assemblyman Stull concluded," is that it will make public entities more cautious about carrying through certain actions unless full substantiated by fact.

S.V. Kiwanis Club Hears Canadian Man

The Spring Valley Kiwanis Club, which meets each Wednesday for breakfast at 7 a.m. in Alfonso's Pizza Inn, Grand ave., Spring Valley, has lined up its program for April.

On April 3, John A. Baineh of British Columbia was the guest speaker; April 10 and the guest speaker was Robert J. Keyes, Community Relations Assistant to the Governor of California; April 17, Glenn Reiter will be speaking on "Lumpy Water Management"; and April 24 will be a time for committee meetings.

John Baines, speaking Apri 3, was introduced by program chairman Paul Yee, who pointed out that Baines was the manager of the Bank of Montreal, Canada.

Baines said he was in California with 39 other men from Canada, doing public relations for their country, their expenses being paid by various organizations of Canada. The P-R. program, which was to last one week, included talks and showing colored movies of the beauty of Canada.

Baines said the program was primarily a "good will mission." He said that 80 per cent of the tourists who enter British Columbia, are from California. He said the city of Victoria B.C. is considered one of the finest cities in Canada for relaxation, and is primarily English. It has remained that way over the years.

The colored movie Baines showed the Kiwanis Club, was entitled "British Columbia" and showed scenes from the Alberta border all the way across Victoria.

A viewer couldn't help but note the excellent highways winding through beautiful country; the abundance of clear water; the man campgrounds and recreational areas, with excellent fishing.

Especially interesting in the picture was the vast agricultural areas and the transcontinental railroad, with its route cut through (what seemed) impossible mountains.

Baines concluded his visit by presenting each member of the club with some literature and maps of British Columbia, and commented he had not visited such a lively group in a long time.

Pre-schooling Starts Monday In Lemon Grove

Pre-school education held the attention of members of the Lemon Grove School District Monday night.

First, $14,299 State funds was dumped in the budget to accommodate classes starting Monday at the Lutheran Church.

These classes are for three and four year old pupils who might otherwise become educationally handicapped. 30 pupils will comprise the first class. 15 more will be added later. Dr. Robert Sutton will be in charge of the school.

The board revised the 1968-69 calendar to coincide with the schedule of other districts. Originally set for Sept. 10, Lemon Grove schools will now start Sept. 16 and close June 20, a week later than originally scheduled.

Jim Dawson, a L.G. teacher, made a preliminary presentation of comparative salary schedules for the Teachers Salary Committee. Charts showing comparison with other professions indicated that the Committee would be asking for substantial increases in May and June when negotiations get down to cases.

Byron Netzley, district superintendent, said following the meeting that there is a movement in California to increase starting minimums to $6,000. Some districts are being asked for as much as $7,200 minimums, he said.

"Increases at the minimum level would have the effect of providing overall increases," he pointed out.

In other business, the board approved the policy of giving teachers the choice of being paid on a 10 or 12 month basis.

Elderly Drivers Get Life Auto Insurance

Elderly drivers will be able to renew their automobile insurance for life under a new plan announced by the Kemper Insurance Group.

The announcement of the agreement to renew was made by Norris C. Flanagin, chairman of the Kemper companies, the first in the industry to provide such a plan aimed exclusively at the senior citizen.

On making the announcement, Flanagin said, "This is a logical extension of our companies' traditional objective of retaining long-time policyholders.

The middle age or even young driver now will have the additional assurance of a contractual right to renew his insurance during his retirement years."

The lifetime agreemnt applies to the following companies of the Kemper Group: Lumbermens Mutual Casualty Company, American Motorists Insurance Company, American Manufacturers Mutual Insurance Company, and Federal Mutual Insurance Company.

Under the agreement, these companies agree they will not refuse to renew automobile insurance for any policyholder who, on reaching the policy annivesrary following attainment of age 65, has been insured with the companies for a minimum of five years.

The agreement applies to all coverages for individually owned private passenger automobiles, and will become a standard part of all such automobile insurance policies issued by, or currently in force in, the companies.

Failure to pay premiums, or suspension or revocation of a driver's license are the only reasons the companies will not renew.

The driver also may be required to have his physician's certification that he is physically able to drive and must meet basic vision requirements.

The tire that's better than cars.

- The Cinturato CN 72 radial ply tire can go 150 miles an hour. Your car can't.
- It can do 130... for 24 straight hours. Your car can't.
- It can corner at angles your car can't cut. And stop at speeds your car can't muster.
- And if you're wondering why any company in its right mind would make a tire for a Ford or Chevy to GT Ferrari tolerances, we'll tell you.
- We think a tire must be able to take everything a car can dish out. And then some.
- We think that when you're doing 60 all day on a sizzling blacktop or swinging around some rainslicked hairpin turn, your tires should be more than equal to it.
- So when we make the Cinturato CN 72, we go the only way you can when you want a tire to be that good. Overboard.
- While others are making American car radial ply tires with two plies, we use three. While others depend on tubes in their radial ply tires, we make ours tubeless. We've even moved the whitewall closer to the rim so the curb doesn't scrape it.
- The result of all our sweat and tears is a tire rugged enough to last a good 45,000 miles.
- And though you have to pay at least $40 for a CN 72 and perhaps as much as $54, it's worth it.
- There's a saying among Italian racing car drivers, "La tua vita puo' dipendere da una sola gomma."
- It means your life is riding on your tires.

Learn Spanish the Easy Way

Hardison's Telespanish

by James Hardison

What does the expression "Hasta la proxima vez." mean? This is a very popular expression used by Spanish-speaking people when they are departing or taking leave. It means "Until the next time."

This expression is sometimes accompanied by another expression, "Nos vemos" which means "We will see you." or "Nos vemos pronto." which means "We will see you soon."

For those who wish a more simple method of saying a departing phrase, they may use the word "Adios" (Good-bye). This word has a very interesting origin. It was originally two separate words. The first was "a" which meant "with," wasand the second word was "Dios" which meant "God." The two words were joined together over the years to form "Adios" which was a departing phrase that literally meant "May you go with god." Today "Adios" simply means "Good-bye."

Another expression used in departing conversation is "Buena suerte." This means "Good luck." We north Americans have a little difficulty in pronouncing this one. The sounds are "boo-EH-nah soo-EHR-teh." These sounds, as well as the sounds found in the other words and expressions of today's practice phrases may be heard when you dial 276-2762 on your telephone. See if you can say them with the automatic recording in the phrase.

IMPORTANT PHRASES

Say "Hasta la proxima vez." (A H S-t a h lah PROHX-see-mah VEHS) for "Until the next time."

Say "Nos vemos pronto." (nohs VEH-mohs PROHN-tho) for "We will see you soon."

USEFUL PHRASES

Say "Adios." (ah-the-OHS) for "Good-bye."

Say "Buena suerte." (boo-EH-nah soo-EHR-teh) for "Good luck."

OTHER PHRASES

Say "Que gusto." (keh GOOS-toh) for "What a pleasure."

It's A Long Trek For A Trickle Of Water

Water is important! It is so important that we can not get along without it. Have you gone without water for any length of time?

Those of us in Lemon Grove and Spring Valley, and for that matter, almost any place in the nation, just turn on the water tap to draw what H20 we need for our important uses.

When we go through this process it seems like an easy task to get that product flowing for our needs, but the story of water is very complicated.

Not only in our community, but throughout the entire State of California our water has traveled many miles. It is processed by various agencies on its 300-mile trip from the Colorado River into local homes.

If you were to follow a single drop, here's how the trip would go: The water of the Colorado River is first stored at Parker Dam, a federal agency operated by the U. S. Bureau of Reclamation.

Then it is pumped across the California desert throught an east-west aqueduct owned by The Metropolitan Water District of Southern California, in which San Diego County's Water Authority is a constituent agency or "shareholder."

Near San Jacinto, 30 miles north of the San Diego County line, it flows into a north-south aqueduct serving the San Diego County Water Authority.

The Helix Irrigation District, as an agent of the San Diego County Water Authority receives the water from two take-off points.

One of these points is at Lakeside and the other at Slaughter House Canyon, north of Lakeside. From either of these points, water can be delivered to the R.M. Levy plant at Lake Jennings for treatment or distribution or it can be retained at Lake Jennings.

From that plant, water then is sent through the entire Helix Irrigation distribution system and into Lemon Grove and Spring Valley homes.

The Lemon Grove and Spring Valley area is supplied as a whole by the Grossmont Reservoir, adjoining the Grossmont High School and at a tank near Costa Bella st., in Lemon Grove.

The level of the water in the reservoirs is the contributing factor as to water pressure. The higher that a home is, in relationship to the water level the less pressure that is available.

Finally the water flows into individual homes throughout Lemon Grove and Spring Valley.

How long does the process take? If the flow of water were measured directly, it would be 72 hours from the time one particular drop of water started at Parker Dam until it arrived in Spring Valley and Lemon Grove.

Lions Members Receive Awards

First place, low net was Charles Montgomery of Lemon Grove; 2nd low net, Lloyd Weber of Spring Valley; 3rd low net, Bob York of L.G.

First place team was Bob York, Roy Erwin, Charles Montgomery and Pete Wood of Lemon Grove; 2nd place team, Stan Totten, Lloyd Weber, Ells Henderson and Bob Todd of S.V.; and 3rd, Bill Biggs, Norm Brown, Doug Vanice and John Baker of S.V.

Social Security Laws Change For Disabled Widows, Widowers

Many disabled widows and widowers can now receive Social Security monthly benefits under a change in the new amendments to the Social Security Law, according to El Cajon Social Security District Manager, Sumio Oto.

Previously a widow could not get social security benefits until she reached age 60 unless she was caring for a child entitled to benefits based on her husband's earnings.

Now, a widow who is unable to work because of severe disability, and whose husband worked long enough under Social Security, may get monthly benefits as early as age 50.

A disabled widower age 50 or older must have been receiving at least one-half of his support from his wife at the time she died.

Under the new law, a widow (or widower) may be considered disabled only if she has a physical or mental impairment that is severe enough to prevent her from performing any gainful work and the impairment has lasted (or is expected to last) 12 months or more.

The amount of the benefit depends on what your husband's retirement benefit would have been had he been 65 at the time of his death and how old you are when you start receiving checks.

Payments can start for the 7th full month of your disability, but the first month in which you can get a payment under this new provision is March, 1968.

Oto suggested anyone desiring more information about this or any other provision of the Social Security Law contact the El Cajon office at 1075 E. Main st.

The office is open from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday and until 7:30 p.m. on Wednesdays. The phone number is 442-0851.

S.V. Man Prepares For Viet Missionary Work

Wayne Stephens, 25, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Stephens, 3253 S. Bonita, Spring Valley recently left for Hawaii where he and his wife will undergo training for work in Vietnam.

Stephens is married and has one daughter Stephanie, 4, who will go with the young couple to the Saigon area where they will do social work.

The couple are taking part in the missionary work program of the Church of Christ of Oklahoma City. They will work with development of child-care programs.

Their church has child-care centers in both DaNang and Saigon. The units are supported by the Oklahoma City Church. The centers are caring for more than 60 youngsters at the current time. All ae war orphans.

The Spring Valley man and his wife recently completed a State Department concentrateed two-week language course for their work there.

In Hawaii they will attend the Asian Training Center associated with the University of Hawaii.

The Asian indoctrination class will last for three months. It will be at this school that they will develop training methods that can be used to help the people of Vietnam.

Stephens said that he and his wife will teach war widows to support themselves and their children.

The child-care center will allow these women to leave their children at the center while they develop usable skills.

The San Diego State College graduate who holds a Masters degree in social work will be part of a nine-man contingent that will leave for Vietnam in July.

The program was founded in 1961 by Maurice Hall, missionary of the Christ Church in Kansas. Since that time, the group has built living quarters for more than 60 children in Saigon and started the child-care program.

Stephens said, "We hope to expand the living quarters that we have now. We want to enlarge the program to take as many women and children that we can handle and teach them trades that can be used to support a family.

My wife, Kay, will be teaching the women in the area of housework, child-care, maids' work and other related work that would give them an income".

The young missionary explained how the widows and war orphans flow into Saigon from the rural areas. He said. "When they reach the cities, they are lost. There are no farms and they have no trade that they can sell on the market."

Stephens was a social worker in Washington, D.C. prior to working with his wife as house parents in Amarillo, Texas.

Mt. Miguel High School Paper Wins Top Award

The Mt. Miguel High School newspaper "El Trovador" has received national recognition and a Certificate of Honor from the National Tuberculosis & Respiratory Disease Association.

The contest which was nationwide was the 31st Annual School Press Project of the National Tuberculosis & Respiratory Disease Assn. according to Lester E. Tokars, county chairman.

Mt. Miguel was one of four schools in San Diego County taking top honors. A total of seven high schools in the state have been granted awards.

Managing editor of the "El Trovador", Jane Eckels will attend the April 16 luncheon of the Tuberculosis Assoc. at the Hanalei Hotel in Mission Valley to receive the award.

Editor-in-chief of the school newspaper is Sue Turner. She will not be able to attend to the award luncheon. Mrs. J. M. Mott is director of the school paper and is journalism teacher at Mt. Miguel.

Tokars said the project's purpose is to alert youngsters to their responsibilities for their own and their neighbor's health and to encourage responsible citizenship and high standards in school journalism.

Competition was in the general field of tuberculosis, other respiratory diseases — including problems such as cigarette smoking — and health careers.

Deddah Asks OK Juvenile Station At TJ Border

Assemblyman Wadie P. Deddeh, has introduced to the California State Legislature a bill requesting the State of California to finance construction of a Juvenile Check Station at the San Diego/Tijuana border.

This station will replace one to be demolished by freeway construction in 1970. The Border Juvenile Check Station functions to deter unescorted juveniles from crossing into Tijuana where harmful influences exist.

In conjunction with the introduction of this bill Deddeh said that he is closely watching decisions between the city and the state regarding the state assuming a greater share of the cost of police service to non San Diego juveniles.
